

Five

Friday, 22 February 2008

FIVE. The nickname of one of the G.I. Joe team's greenshirt recruits. New recruits were usually given joke nicknames until they earned their Joe codename. After spending weeks of training, Five and his fellow "Alpha Team" recruits were sent on a training mission led by Beach Head into a wartorn country to fight a group of rebels. For that mission, Beach Head dropped the greenshirts' nicknames and referred to them only by number, much to their aggravation. A battle erupted as the team tried to make it to an extraction chopper after rescuing "Three" aka Heavy Fire. Beach Head was nearly left behind, but the entire team eventually escaped.

(FL 17)