LYDIA. The wife of G.I. Joe team member Lonzo "Stalker" Wilkinson. Lydia met Stalker when he and two other Joes were vacationing in Mexico. They stayed at the same hotel and Lydia and Stalker met while relaxing at the pool. Their budding romance was cut short when Stalker had to help his teammates stop a group of terrorists who had hijacked a tour bus full of tourists. They both kept in touch over the years and were married some time after the Joe team was shut down in 1994. Lydia all ready had a son named Alvin and she and Stalker had a son who they named Jamal. While living in Detroit, Stalker got the call to return to the newly reinstated G.I. Joe team and the family moved into housing at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio. Recently, the Joes have opened new headquarters, though it is not yet known if Stalker's family moved to a new home.
