

Collins, Heather

Wednesday, 20 February 2008

HEATHER COLLINS. Heather was the daughter of the original Fred Broca, a Crimson Guardsman who looked exactly like the rest of the "Fred series". Fred's true identity was unknown. Despite being only a child, she was aware of the fact that her father worked for Cobra. After Fred was killed in battle against the Joes, the family got a "replacement" father, Fred II. Heather and her brother Sean knew that the new Fred was not their father. Some time later, Fred II was revealed to be Wade Collins, a former Vietnam prisoner of war and friend of Stalker and Snake-Eyes. Collins decided to turn his back on Cobra and his family followed him to live a somewhat normal suburban life somewhere in America, taking his true name as their own.
