

Red Zone

Monday, 04 October 2010

RED ZONE. The code name used by U.S. Army Corporal Luke Ellison, born in Stockton, California. As an urban assault specialist and helicopter pilot, Red Zone worked with G.I. Joe as part of the small team known as the Steel Brigade. Today, like many Joes, he is a reserve member of the team. During the conflict known as World War III, Red Zone was assigned to domestic operations in the United States. One of many Joes listed on World War III member assignment map first seen in AE #28. (AE 25 (cover); Figure: 1)